PACKAGE RECEIVED STATUS

tl;dr: nightly updates and "Pkg Received" status mean you always know where your packages and payments stand.

Hey everyone,

A quick note on BFMR's operational benefits

Your ability to maintain package and payment visibility is critical. At BFMR, we post our updates nightly on WhatsApp, Telegram, Discord, and the purple banner on our site.

Every night, good or bad (it's always good with same-day payments everyday!) we post it. We do not hide from it. This visibility is critical in your planning and peace of mind.

While payment speed is the most important, your package's whereabouts is a close second.

With our "Pkg Received" status in My Tracker, you will know when it's in our hand, many times even before the carrier marks it delivered!

During high volume periods, processing times may stretch (payments will be same-day though). Instead of anxiously waiting for the status of your package, with Package Received you'll know.

Why this is big:

1. When we physically receive your package, you'll know instantly.
2. It will minimize your need to reach out asking if we received your package.
3. You'll get clearer insight into your package's processing timeline.
4. Enjoy peace of mind if processing is backlogged. You'll know your package is in our possession and in queue to be processed.
5. Note: a small number of packages may sometimes skip this state.

This highlights another area of operational excellence you receive with BFMR!
